Squash Open

Cairo, Saturday 27 April 2019: After 10 days of tough competition, El Gouna International Squash Open Championship -sponsored by CI Capital, concluded with naming Raneem El Welily as the women's champion after a win over Nouran Gohar in the finals. The championship finals were attended by Dr. Hala Al-Saeed Minister of Planning, Dr. Ghada Wali Minister of Social Solidarity, Ahmed Abd-Allah Governor of Red Sea, Hazem Badran Co-CEO of CI Capital Group, Amr Mansi Organizer of El Gouna International Squash Open, and Businessmen Samih and Naguib Sawiris, and several public figures.

Hazem Badran presented Raneem El Welily with the women's trophy and a prize worth USD 22,800, with CI Capital participation as the main sponsor for the third consecutive year, given the importance of the championship in concreting Egypt's leadership of squash. El Gouna International Squash Open is one of the seven biggest international tournaments in the world in terms of ranking points, which determine the world rankings, and in terms of participation with eight of the top world ranking players participating in the championship.

From his part, Hazem Badran said, "Our participation as the main sponsor of the championship aligns with our continuous keenness to support Egyptian champions to compete internationally and achieve record results. In addition, hosting a world-class tournament promotes tourism in Egypt, since squash has a large fan base around the world and has extensive international media coverage."

CI Capital believes in the value of successful sports idols and figures to enable Egyptian sports to achieve excellence through providing full endorsement & support. This reflects the company's values in empowering its outstanding members; hence, CI Capital's profound commitment to participating in the championship for the third consecutive year.
