Summary Points:

- Ministry of International Cooperation has succeeded in securing financing agreements in 2020 worth $7.308 billion for various priority sectors
- A decade of action and delivery – the Ministry has been committed to chart the course for development financing to accelerate progress to the Sustainable Development Goals

Egypt's Ministry of International Cooperation has succeeded in concluding agreements in 2020 worth $7.308 billion, for various priority sectors, with $4.547 billion for financing sovereign projects and $2.761 billion for financing the private sector, Minister of International Cooperation, H.E Dr. Rania Al-Mashat announced.

The agreements come within the Ministry of International Cooperation's framework to strengthen economic relations with multilateral and bilateral development partners in order to meet Egypt's development financing needs, in accordance with the priorities of the National Agenda 2030 and the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

A DECADE OF ACTION AND DELIVERY

Al-Mashat said that the Ministry has been committed to chart the course for progress towards the SDGs as the world enters into a "decade of action and delivery," redesigning development finance to be dedicated towards sustainable development and collectively achieve the National 2030 Agenda.

With a focus on an integrated approach to development financing, where public and private stakeholders work together, the Ministry developed a framework to strengthen economic diplomacy through 3 key principles: regularly organizing multi-stakeholder platforms to ensure that all projects between development partners are streamlined and effectively coordinated to accelerate the pace of development for the achievement of UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs); adopting a consistent Global Partnerships Narrative People&Projects&Purpose (P&P&P); and mapping ODA financing to SDGs for all projects with multilateral and bilateral development partners.

To promote development projects monitoring and foster community engagement, the Ministry of International Cooperation conducted several on-ground field visits across governorates covering a diverse range of projects that cross-cut through several sustainable development goals.

In celebration of the United Nations 75th Anniversary, the Ministry conducted a 3 day visit to Upper Egypt, together with the Ministry of Agriculture and Land Reclamation, the World Food Programme, the US Embassy and the USAID, which included a number of development programmes targeting farmers, women and youth in the Governorate of Luxor, which will aim to support them with climate-resilient water solutions, food security and provide job opportunities for youth.
